

Conflict Happens

The issues that cause rows and conflict cannot be avoided. It is part of life. We see things differently from each other, we both want the same thing.....the list goes on. Learning positive ways to sort out our conflicts is an important part of growing up. As parents and teachers we have a golden opportunity to teach our children HOW to sort things out.

Don't be afraid of letting your children argue. They have to learn how to resolve their own disputes in an age appropriate way or they will not be able to do it when they grow up.

Instead of stopping the argument, use the ideas in this book to give them the tools to argue effectively and to reach a mutually beneficial solution.

For more information on Sibling Rivalry visit us at www.ResolvingBooks.com